lag before an audience that was simply stupendous. It is doubtful it more poople have ever been within the walls of the theatre upon any previous eccasion. Every most and corner, ever been within the walls of the thesire upon any previous occasion. Every mock and corner, back into the tapestried lobby, it was one more soft meaning. The rising of the curtain displayed a magnificant first part seene, elst ters high, with twelve handsomely arrayed end-men, whose brilliant wittiesins, mostly new, kept the audience continually laughing. Then the double sextets of modolious voices followed in choice selections, the comedians in fresh lokes and new songs, while the male was a scene in which all the end-men appeared and distributed among the audience thousands of initiation postal cards, devoted in good type to heralding the great glory of J. H. Haveriy. The second and burlesque—were replicte with a host of spiends not belief, and the applance was literally loud and long. On the whole, the Consoliated Mastodome may sately be placed on the veritable top shelf of ministrelay, as their equals do not exist."

How Bigclow Argued.

New York Werld.

When Sergeant Mason was sentenced to be imprisoned for shooting at Guiteau a fund was made up by subscription for his wife, of which she now has $7,000. A lawyer is suing her for half this amount for his services in unsuccessfully trying to get her husband out of fall. The lawyer must have argued that it may occasionally be justifiable to remove an objectionable person without process of law, and some indignant friend of Mrs. Mason's may possibly better his instruction.

For The Evening Chirle.

De Hev'st thou not in God? my friend!

The great beginning and the end

Of all that was—that is—will be

Through time and through eternity?

Reflect awhile—a moment pause; And for these items, give the cause; The sun—the moon—the stars—are these Not full enough your faith to selze? Well then, the animaloule That ne'er was seen by naked eye To monster whale down in the sea; Bo not these point to God on high?

The little tiny hummins-Mrd With ruby throat and em'raid crest, To eagle, huge, now bearing of A lamb against his massive breast.

The Hiles of the valley scan
Those little bells of purity,
The mighty caks the clouds that span;
And still in these no God you see?

What more convincing, stronger test of God's existence and His care Than in the humming bird's soft neet? A cup of lichen light as air. When to and fro the boughs among The storm-wind sends the fragile form, The little home, with all its young, Is found secure when calms the storm.

In grains of wheat what wisdom shows, What words can speak its matchless worth The rippling rills, the rocks that lave; The tippling rills, the losses wave, The wide expanse of ocean wave, Its voice alone, in ead refrain Proclaims to us a God doth reign. —J. W. S.
